The capital of the Costa del Sol has become a cultural landmark in Spain and Europe. Its more than 40 museums, its internationally renowned film festival, and its gastronomy define an authentically Mediterranean way of life. Malaga is growing, evolving, and expanding. Our goal is to champion this expansion through sustainability, creating new opportunities that allow for a full and peaceful life in one of the most vibrant cities in the south. This is a new community concept based on principles of symbiosis with the environment and reducing consumption through the circular economy, always using the circle as the unifying force of the project. An innovative residential project that
